

Survey of Families with Children with Complex Medical Needs

The Delaware Division of Medicaid and Medical Assistance (DMMA) wants to hear from you to learn how well services are supporting/have recently supported your child and what can be done to improve services.

DMMA is working with Vital Research, an independent research and evaluation company, to gather information from families with children with medically complex needs. Vital Research will mail a survey to all families with children with medically complex needs in January and February. The survey will allow all families who choose to respond to share feedback with DMMA. Your privacy is important, and no individual responses will be shared with DMMA. If you need assistance completing the survey in your language, translation services will be provided.
